Pictured to the left is Seth Tatum, SAU Tech Film and Video graduate from May 2010. Seth, originally from Rison, Arkansas, took an intern job in Los Angeles with Gurney Productions soon after graduation from SAU Tech. Within weeks of taking the position, Seth was hired by the company as a full-time equipment manager and back-up assistant cameraman. For a look at the company that now employs our former student go to: www.gurneyproductions.com.

Dr. Lamkin Attends Lignite Meeting

On July 1, 2010, at Chenal Country Club in Little Rock, Dr. Lamkin joined other professionals along with Representative Allen Maxwell in a discussion regarding the promotion of excavating lignite resources in Arkansas. The meeting was arranged by Brent Stevenson and Rep. Allen Maxwell.

Randy Young, Arkansas Natural Resources Commission, Micheal J. Nasi, Jackson Walker, L.L.P., Erick Didriksen, Aerojet General Corp. and Dr. Corbet Lamkin, SAU Tech.

Students Receive NASA Scholarships

Two students from SAU Tech's Aviation Maintenance program were recently awarded scholarships from the National Aeronautics Space Administration (NASA) in the amount of $2,000 each. The Scholarships went to Camden native, Michael Gairich and Randy Rosenbaum of Prescott. The students will use the funds for tuition, books, tools and other educational expenses. The scholarships were awarded based on grade point average, work performance, attendance and instructor recommendation. The scholarship opportunity was a result of SAU Tech's membership in the Arkansas Aerospace Training Consortium.

Crumpler's "Ghost Dog" Wins

SAU Tech English instructor Bill Crumpler's short story "Ghost Dog of the Ouachita" has won a prize at this year's Arkansas Writers' Conference held in Little Rock on June 4-5. Says Crumpler, "If you've ever had a paranormal experience—like seeing a ghost or being in love—you'll enjoy this little tale." (He used the prize money to take his wife to dinner.)

If you'd like to have a copy of the story, email Bill at bcrumple@sautech.edu.
